This project has proven to be highly effective in helping our students achieve their musical goals. Our students have explored the layout and progression of the keys on the keyboard. They are beginning to identify key names and play melodies. They have been successful in improvising on pentatonic scales.

Having these keyboards as a tool for students to experiment and create their own music has had a profound impact on their self-esteem and creativity. Students who may have previously felt hesitant to take risks have been able to dive into music-making with the aid of the built-in headphone jacks. The excitement and confidence displayed by our students as they learn and create music is truly inspiring.

These keyboards have proven to be user-friendly for the students but have many built-in tools so students can explore and create in ways beyond what they could do on the standard piano.

Thank you once again for your invaluable support. I am excited about the exciting learning experiences we will continue to have with these instruments.
